

Graduate Study In Canada

The Canadian Rhodes Scholars Foundation Scholarships

- Prestigious scholarship to fund graduate study in Canada
- Chance to compete for scholarships modeled on Rhodes Scholarships
- Canada has world class universities with state of art research facilities—previous scholars have studied at McGill, Dalhousie, Toronto, British Columbia and dozens of other universities. Information about graduate studies in Canada can be obtained from the Association of Universities and Colleges of Canada at http://www.aucc.ca/can_uni/index_e.html
- Scholarships are open to all disciplines—there are no restrictions on the university or course of study you can choose—though you must be admitted to your programme
- Canada is a visually stunning and vast landscape, with a young and highly diverse, multi-lingual society which presents a unique perspective on contemporary issues

As is the case with Rhodes Scholars, the Foundation scholars are selected on criteria of character and extra-curricular interests, as well as academic excellence. The scholarships are tenable at any Canadian University, and aspiring applicants are encouraged to approach the university of their choice before the selection process. All applicants must be unmarried, permanent residents of the United Kingdom who have graduated from Oxford within 24 months of the application process

WINNING THE PRIZE

Up to three scholarships are offered each year through the generosity of the Canadian Rhodes Scholars Foundation, funded by Oxford alumni who were Rhodes Scholars from Canada or support the Scholarships' objectives. The Scholarships provide an allowance of C$16,000 per year plus tuition fees and airfare and travel allowances. They will be awarded on the basis of academic excellence and extra-curricular activities.

TRAVEL ALLOWANCES

To cover your air travel from the British Isles, the scholarship comes with an allowance of C$1,000. A further C$1,000 is also provided to cover travel within Canada.
